a print and audio women's curriculum for spiritual growth developed for Dr. John Maxwell's Injoy organization (where she served as Board member for the National Women's Ministry Association). Linda most recently served as Communications Specialist for the President of The Navigators in Colorado prior to moving with her husband to Chattanooga.

Linda has a long-storied background in women's ministry. Motivated by her desire to "passionately pursue purpose," she guides others to discover, experience, and find fulfillment in their life purpose. Linda is passionate in her desire to see everyone experience the fulfilled life promised them by Jesus Christ who said, "I have come that they may have life and have it abundantly" (John 10:10). She is motivated by a desire to see women develop deeper intimacy with God and use their God-given gifts, skills, and talents to fulfill His purposes for their lives. Author, Bible teacher, and gifted communicator, Linda motivates through practical insights and hands-on strategies that equip each to grow and stand fast "for such a time as this" (Esther 4:14). Linda has served as Women's Ministry Director for a number of churches and is a Women's Ministry Coach and Consultant.

Recipient of the National Religious Broadcaster's Genesis Award for her nationally syndicated radio program, "KeyPoints: Practical Christianity for Life in the Real World," reaching nine million listeners, Linda has a BA in Biblical and Theological Studies from Gordon College, Wenham, MA, and a Master's Degree in Journalism and Communications from the Washington, DC branch of Regent University. Linda's book, "Dancing in the Storm: Hope in the Midst of Chaos" was also nominated for the Library of Virginia 2000 Non-Fiction Award, by the Virginia Center for the Book.
